Gallantry Medal Awarded Soldier

Man Who 'Walks Into Things' Walked Into Jerusalem Blast

By Pat McLean
Bulletin Staff Writer

A professional soldier who makes the world his home and travels the globe in search of oddities received one of the highest gallantry awards.

Irish-born Spaniard Alfred Alfred Smith, 48, of Edmonton, received the Order of the British Empire medal from His Excellency Governor J. J. Bowden on behalf of His Majesty the King.

The 48-year-old soldier won the decoration as a sergeant in the Palestine police force, 1946, when, in six grueling weeks, he rescued three British soldiers buried in the King David Hotel explosion in Jerusalem.

The ceremony was informal. In the lieutenant-governor's office, Smith, wearing a tattered suit, stuck his cigarette as His Honor's side. Major C. V. Dacre, became the citation.

Smith, who had not realized the smallest pin-prick-like wound who had wrung his hand so warmly was the King's representative.

In the Irish tradition, Smith has never been asked to learn languages and dialects around the world, he murmured as apology. "The air tight," smiled the lieutenant-governor. "You're in Canada now."

LENGTHY CITATION

The citation was lengthy: It needed to be, because it signified the highest award.

"On July 22, 1946, it is recorded, 'Jewish terrorists attacked the Secretariate and Force Headquarters situated at the King David Hotel, Jerusalem, causing a number of high explosives completely destroyed part of the building. At the time of the explosion, Sgt. Smith was off duty.'

"I was playing a game of snooker," the hero recalled later. "He immediately turned out all available personnel and our initial reaction was 'work'

"I rounded up the boys (members of the Palestine Police) and we went to work," he said. Sgt. Smith deserves it.

"With assistance, I cleared the ceiling, found a hole in the debris large enough to insert himself in a prone position and in this manner turned his way into the rubble, untiringly pushing aside the soldiers who were seriously injured. Sgt. Smith spent six hours clearing the debris, keeping dust and explosive fumes from his face, before he succeeded in extracting the three men, who were very near death, and of further explosions, of fire and the collapse of the tunnel.

Throughout, his ordeal Smith displayed courage and the highest order with complete disregard of his own safety."

HAPPENED BEFORE

But the gallant soldier has an amazing record of saving lives. "It seems to walk into things... it's happened before... and when you think it's happened again like that, it seems natural to do something about it!"

There was another time when he walked into one of those things. In 1943 he was up in a bus load of women and children ambushed in Asia Minor. "It was terrible," he said.

From the moment, he heard the first screams of the terrified women and children it just seemed natural to do something about it! Sgt. Smith killed three of the men who had walked into one of those things.

Where You Are Always Sure of the Quality

Will Edmonton Pay It?

The verbal report of John E. Wallace, zoo expert from St. Louis who was retained by the city to study the two situations in Edmonton, reveals that it would cost at least $50,000 a year to maintain a decent zoo in this city.

The first thing to be decided, then, with regard to the establishment of a respectable zoo, is whether or not Edmonton people are prepared to pay that annual price.

Just now there is a certain amount of popular enthusiasm for a zoo.

Mr. Wallace and Professor William Rowan of the University have pointed out that a certain area in the north of the south side of the river between 105 street and High Level bridge, could be developed into an excellent zoo site with trenches and rocky caves and no bars. Heated buildings are projected for the primates.

All this sounds very well, but the Bulletin has not completely convinced that a properly kept zoo would be an educational asset for Edmonton children, a place of relaxation and amusement for adults and a definite tourist attraction.

If the present popular enthusiasm is to be maintained, let us have a new zoo by all means.

But if this enthusiasm is likely to wane or if money is going to be required other than the money or if Edmonton people are not prepared to support such an institution, we should drop the idea and have no zoo at all.

A poor zoo is infinitely worse than no zoo, both from the humanitarian angle and as a matter of public interest.

The city council has no business to go ahead with any zoo plans if there is any chance that the place will degenerate into a cheap refuge for a few dissipated animals.

A good zoo is a splendid thing to have. But good zoos cost money. And it is doubtful if the proposed Edmonton zoo will ever attain the volume mentioned by Mr. Wallace in regard to the St. Louis zoo.

Then there is the first and vital matter for council to decide—will the people of Edmonton support such an institution and cheerfully grant it the money it needs?

If there is no doubt about it, council should go ahead.

If there is doubt about it, council should drop the whole business.

A City Public Relations Officer

About a month ago, Mayor Sidney Parsons announced that because of the undue pressure of work, neither he nor any of the aldermen would accept any social engagements as representatives of the city for a period of three months.

It is amazing that in the face of that announcement and in spite of the mayor's illness, social invitations continue to flood into the mayor's office.

It is rather kind not to considerate nor reasonable. What the people should regard the chief magistrate as a social ornament at their beck and call.

When Edmonton was a small town, it could function as a such a center. But Edmonton is no longer a small town. It is a large city with a multiplicity of duties demanding the constant attention of the mayor.

A Bad Idea From Winnipeg

Those who realize the need for rigid traffic control in this city will be glad to hear that City Council has decided to firmly oppose the Winnipeg's new idea that motorists and pedestrians should be permitted to ignore red traffic lights if the way appears to be clear.

The suggestion, which is bad in itself and gains no prestige in coming from Winnipeg where traffic law enforcement is far from desirable.

As it used to be in Toronto, before enforcement was tightened up, little attention was given to traffic lights in any event.

And along Main street, not far from the CPR station, trucks and motor cars lumber through red lights with dangerous regularity.

In proposing this new bylaw, then, Winnipeg appears to be merely legalizing the contempt for traffic law that already exists.

Chief Constable Jennings is entirely right when he points out that adoption of such a system proposed by Winnipeg would only create new traffic hazards.

SASKATCHEWAN PARADOX

Capitalistic Oil May Be Socialist Planners' Hope

By NORMAN M. MACLEOD

Oil, the liquid gold which has endowed capitalism the world over, has been the key to the political salvation of Saskatchewan's socialist government.

This province, within the next two years, may become one of the major oil fields of the world.

That at least is the consensus among the oil companies in the contemporary Saskatchewan political scene, regardless of their politics.

While a half dozen of the continent's largest oil companies with total assets in excess of $1,000,000,000 each are engaged in one of capitalism's greatest gambles in Canadian history, the socialist cabinet ministers also have been making their own connection with the same opulent, glamorous enterprise.

Gambling, Too

Fellow-gamblers with the well-known oil capitalists, they have staked—according to local politicians—their whole political future on the finding of a major oil deposit.

Politics has rarely dealt in finer irony than when it confronted a socialist government with the task of terminating Socialism with the task of developing a rich oil heritage.

The obvious course, laid down by the Red Man, was to lay down the Red Man. The socialist drive on Warsaw, Premier Meighen has formed a new Canadian cabinet.

The Timid Soul

Unhealthy Trend In Young People

A man we know, who hires a great many young people for a grave job, has been thinking a lot in his beard a bit the other day. He said that the people who came to him looking for jobs didn't seem to be interested in opportunity or the chances of marrying the boat's daughter. That is, they had given off, about the provisions for retirement—the pension plan, the knock-off age, and such like.

Another man, who had picked up one of those newspaper questionnaires, in which the question for the day is "What would you do if your heart stopped?" Six people, four women and two men, all answered, "Nothing."

Unhealthy Trend

I would know whether we spent a great deal here, but it looks a mile unhealthy. This is not the way it happened in Horatio Alger—or even in the comparatively recent days. Postscript: that a revelation against the uncouth times, in which security is treason, and the honest man is a delusion. Because today, of all days, there is mighty little security. Planning for the future has been wiped out of individual hands and is now a master of himself.

A certain amount of theft is commendable commodity, —you cannot knock the wise and who are not? We are all in it, interesting to quote from an independent of this evil, General Evangeline Booth of the Salvation Army. The General declares:

"Drink has drained more blood, Plague more crepe, Sold more homes, Plunged more people into debt, Armed more savagins, Slain more children, Snapped more wedlock."

Something definitely will have to be done in order to stop this aspect of society. Alberta is the area of Alberta which was defrauded.

I think that the people of Canada made a sad mistake. We have not made the progress that we should have. Our immigration policy has not been as active as it could have been. We have a population of 10 million while the United States has 130,000,000. The two countries are practically the same. Canada is a great country but needs to be more progressive, which was defrauded.

I think that the people of Canada have such a rich income in other ways, less oil, et cetera, that it would be better to turn our attention to the undeveloped areas of the country. I think that the people of Canada have such a rich income in other ways, less oil, et cetera, that it would be better to turn our attention to the undeveloped areas of the country.

There appears to be one logical remedy to this situation; that is, to reduce taxes on land which are so burdensome. I think that taxes per acre on the wooded area would be much lower than the taxes on cultivated land. That would help to make the area more attractive.

Something definitely will have to be done in order to stop this aspect of society. Alberta is the area of Alberta which was defrauded.

Highlanders Blow Sky-High At Saskatoon

By Tom McKenzie
SASKATOON, July 17.—The west's most cheering in the Alberta section of the Willington cup interprovincial tournament here today. Doug Silverberg, Alberta junior champion, played his way right into the hearts of a large crowd by the side-holes of media play with the strongly-favored Laurie Roland of Vancouver.

Young Silverberg was none too pleased with a 77 for the morning round, but didn't care great deal and went right out after the leaders in the afternoon. He clipped two strokes off his morning score and had a 79, second lowest junior score of the day for a 36-hole card of 152.

With the exception of Vern Mohs, the Edmonton Highlanders' club Willington cupper, far outdistanced the field and scored to 64 in the team matches.

Mohs paced the Canadian with 31st, while the well-played 72 on the first round. Vern caught just about all the trouble he could in the second half of the team event and required 70 strokes.

Hannan (100) and Drever couldn't seem to do anything right on the velvet like course yesterday morning and carded 101 and 102 respectively. However, they came back strongly after lunch and clipped 11 strokes off his score.

The Edmonton players are well regarded in the Canadian amateur and many players from both eastern and western provinces surprised to see the Highlanders go bad in Willington cup play.

The Saskatoon Golf and Country Club's scene of the Canadian championships is perfectly arranged, but the entire field of 165 will not find its way to par 70 for the outfit going to the hole-in-one, the course, ordinarily a 72 par, has been leveled down considerably for the tournament. However, anyone who hits straight and long should pick up his handicap and make their 100 odd good setup in the eagle.

In Willington cup play Gerry Kesseling of Kitchener, Ont., and Nick Weisbach of Brandon, were the only ones to make the grade. They have won the best of the best; they have even played en.

Six Track Records Fall

HAMILTON, Ont., July 17—(CP)—It remained for a 25-year-old Ontario from Philadelphia and a London medical student to save the track and field records in the national field championships ended Saturday from an almost dead loss. Six records were broken for the first time of half a century.

Philadelphia's Vic Frank, a member of the United States' best Olympic team, and Dr. Alan Morris, record-breaking performances in the discus and shot put. Next in line was the Western Ontario track and football star who beat his 80-year-old national record of 134 in and won the 100-metre race. Morris was another man on the victorious London University Track Club mile relay team.

They were almost even in strokes, McGregor charged with 84 and Macken with 83.

Sedgman, 22, had seven and Macken one.

Laundryman Finds Unusual Expenses

A man's home is his castle, believes the police liquor squad, as long as he doesn't run a laundry or some other business on the premises.

A Chinese found this out to his cost—$30—in police court Saturday when he was charged with illegal possession of liquor.

Even though he had a permit for the liquor and consumed it in his living quarters, the fact he also ran a laundry in the building technically made it "place to which the public have access."

The accessible Chinese forfeited his bail.

Orchid For Inspector

R. E. Cunningham, Jasper Place resident, was issuing orchids to the Edmonton Transit System for courteous treatment of customers.

Specific incident he had in mind took place outside Renfrew Park when inspector handling baseball crowd moved him and his daughter from one bus to another when he learned they were in a hurry.

The accolade has the ring of authority, too. Mr. Cunningham is justice of the peace at Jasper place.

Canadian Sailors Get Mail En Route

VICTORIA, B.C., July 17.—(CP)—Canadian sailors now heading for the Korean war are getting the letters and news from their folks at home.

The first mail packet to the Esquimalt fleet reported Saturday the three ship destroyer flotilla had acknowledged receipt of two mails dispatched from here between July 5 and July 12.

Reversing the situation, the fleet mail office receives more than 1,000 letters from the ships Friday. None of the mail is being censored, a navy spokesman said.

Prominent Visitors Coming For Annual Show of Roses

"General MacArthur" and "Herbert Hoover" will be among distinguished guests at the 18th annual Rose Show in the Capitol Theatre, July 24-26. It is shaping up to be big, two days, not only for "General MacArthur" and "Hoover" and the other 20 varieties of roses that will be blooming, but for the rose-growers of Edmonton who nursed their bushes through the rigors of a severe winter.

And for veteran rose gardener Walter P. Wilson, 10040-18 street, it should be a special triumph. His rose-growing and flower-growing experience covers 60 years, has been after Edmonton for 38 years to grow more roses.

He was dismayed when he came here in 1932 to find the great rose gardens of the world, including only a few Old Country people.

So he proved to his own satisfaction that roses could be grown here, and he began to educate people to that fact.

In 1938, he began his radio program which then consisted of comment, chiefly about roses,

Ready-Whip Cream Available at Coast

By Bea Thrifty

Showcase 'n fresh fruit days call for a steady flow of whipped cream . . . and a steady flow of cash, too. Whipping cream . . . at 26¢ per half pint is decidedly in the luxury class . . . and how I love it . . . and oh how it shows around my waistline.

Being obsessed with whipped cream these calorie-packed days I ran into a bit of conversation with a Vancouverite and heard a tale of tinned ready-whipped cream for instant use on puddings, pies, cakes, pastries, shortcake, gelatin and hot chocolate.

Sells for 5¢ this gem does!

Manufactured and processed in the coastal city, it's available in large eastern cities as well . . . but not for the likes of us.

Seems we prairie folk, are closer to the cow

... Anyhow I thought you'd be interested in the news just for the fun of it.

Cream comes in largish can with a nozzly-type lid. Directions are simple. One merely inverts; shoves same vigorously; press tip of opening firmly and out comes the cream, whipped, sugared and delicious.

Kinds interestin' what!

We have a new picnic product to look forward to also.

It does a fine and fancy job of dressing up a hot dog or hamburger and is a tarty-tangy mixture of mustard, onions, pickled cucumbers and spices.

Ummmmmm . . . goooooooodness . . .

We're treated to some about and of season says a early-headed grocer . . .

Another newbie prescribed for more pleasure hours for Madam Homemaker is a new fruit concentrate to turn out jellies, crystal-clear and tasty. Five flavors will be available within a six-month period.

If the small-fry are having qualms about the business of eating during warm-weather days . . . rally your appetite to cause and produce some eye-catchers for your little ones.

Try making gay little sandwiches, shaped like animals with added eyes 'n mouth of raisins or other dried fruit.

You can buy a set of animal cutters to use for cookies or fresh-bread sandwiches for 39¢.

These junior sets have five different members of the animal kingdom. One side brown and one side white will add to the fun of sandwich-making for you.

Be sure to make the bear-shaped sandwiches with brown bread . . . chicken-shapes with white bread 'n such.

Child Can Overcome His Timidity With Your Help

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

All children, at some time, show signs of timidity. Some children show fear of going to strangers' homes or even of passing through strangers' houses.

Perhaps, because they have not been prepared in advance.

If the visit is to strangers tell the child how to act and always say, "Then he won't go into hysterics because of fear at their approach."

THEY'RE NOT READY

Social timidity arises because children are unprepared for the demands made upon them. They hear so much talk of how children should speak politely, or act like adults, that they grow afraid. Perhaps, because they have not been prepared in advance.

If the visit is to strangers tell the child how to act and always say, "Then he won't go into hysterics because of fear at their approach."

Of course, any mother who wants politeness or courtesy or tidy could wish to know that she has to teach the proper example each and every day.

HELP HIM OUT

When a child slips up in his line of conduct, say, "We saw that you did . . . We saw that you took that lovely box of candy," is better than to humiliate the child by saying, "Don't you know what is right?"

Our letter No. 46 "Good Manners" may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Mrs. G. L. Gilchrist, "Mother" in the best-seller, "Cheaper by the Dozen," written by two of her children.

She is a registered engineer and president of her late husband's engineering firm in Montreal. She has nine degrees, honorary.

Mrs. Gilchrist said today there's only one finer profession than engineering—motherhood.

"The women in the home has the most important job in the world," she said. "Psychologists, manufacturers and child-study experts all want to know what is happening to the home if the manners or attitudes it were well that the parent were more explicit and corrective and told them exactly what was to be done and exactly what would be done."

Of course, any mother who wants politeness or courtesy or tidy could wish to know that she has to teach the proper example each and every day.

SIEGE WEAPONS

With round cannon shot, rifle fire, in which the hall repeatedly rebounded from the wall, was one of the most effective weapons in siege warfare, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

WHY GROW OLD

Comfort Comes First But Beware of Slump

By Josephine Lowman

It seems to me it is very difficult to know when one is adapting to a situation and when one is just slumping.

Take the question of summer-time. Well, it is natural to desire to be comfortable, to live in a house that is a model of comfort, to dress for comfort, and so forth. However, if this is being done for too long and to extremely, you may find yourself just slumping.

It is natural to desire to do no more than you can do, but if you have let down your fences in matters which build you up, then let it go at that.

The fact that few men ever think it would be wise to try to find a new job, or a new place to live in a woman's head is a special dispensation of a merciful Providence.

It is natural to desire to be simple, to live in a house that is a model of simplicity, to dress simply, to be simple in your social contacts. If this is being done for a long time, however, it may be a sign of a stringent financial situation.

This need friends and always, everywhere. There are people who would be friends if you gave them a chance. The others who are not friends are not worth worrying about, anyway.

Give yourself props. We all need them. You may be unable to buy a new hat, but you can buy a tinfoil hat, a kind word to someone who has maligned you, a quiet time at sunset, a new hat. Who knows?

Smile, of all course, are the easiest cardigans with embroidery or jeweled necklines. The popular crest embroidery is another form of embroidery fashion. Then there are the short sleeve blouse, hand-crocheted cardigan which have been such a big Florida fad for years that many of you may have one.

And there are all sorts of others too, including cardigans of linen or shantung, which would be good for you.

A SMALL INCOME

May be you live on a small income and are having a difficult time making ends meet. Then, of course, it would be foolish to be afraid to ask for help from another, or are you missing all your own money? If this is happening to you, then you must get help.

It is natural to desire to be a good neighbor. There are so many of us who are good neighbors.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS

Women Forced to Learn What Makes Men Tick

A correspondent wants to know whether men understand women better than women understand men, or whether women have a keener line on men than men have on women.

Women understand "men far better than men understand women, and I think that is perfectly obvious."

Since the beginning of time women have been dependent upon men. Men have held women's security, their prosperity, their happiness in their hands. Every good thing we've got in this world came out of the last hair of the last man. She had to study all of his habits and tendencies and get to know him in order to learn how to live upon him as upon a horse of a thousand strings.

But men, being the lords, it creates a certain attitude in many women. Women had to take what they gave them and like it, or lump it. It is remarkable that every wife has her husband stand to the last hair of the last man, the great majority of husbands never get to the last hair of the last woman. The faintest idea why their spouses act as they do.

MEN NEVER TOOK TROUBLE

Of course, the only reason that men don't understand women is because they have never taken the trouble to try to solve the feminine conundrum, but out of this has grown up the myth that there is something occult and mysterious about women that has furnished millions of men with a sense of awe as they blundered in dealing with their sweethearts and wives. When they did understand, it was simple. It was a crime they should shrug their shoulders and threw up their hands and cried out that nobody could understand women, and let it go at that.

The fact that few men ever think it would be wise to try to find a new job, or a new place to live in a woman's head is a special dispensation of a merciful Providence.

High Attendance Expected As Weather Fair At Fair Start

Cash customers started turning the turnstiles at Edmonton's fair this afternoon.

With weather fair, officials anticipated last year's opening day crowd of 25,899 would be exceeded.

There were the big attractions for the afternoon, a packed time. Tonight, the grand performers offer their first show in the arena at 8 o'clock.

Early in the day roads graded, midway travelled, 3,000 rods available in the new grandstand.

Smoke Drives Back Crews

LARK, Utah, July 17.—(AP)—

Rescue crews groped through miles of smoke-filled tunnels today, stretching ropes and trapping in a burning lead mine.

The men have been missing since early Sunday, when fire broke out in the Lark mine of the United States Smelting, Refining and Mining Company.

They were engaged in maintenance operations at the mine, which had been shut down since July 1 because of the United States strike. It was believed they may have received any of a number of fresh air supplies.

Some 30 rescue workers were driven back to the entrances by heavy smoke.

Men were pumped into the mine, turkey and fans were started in an effort to clear the main tunnel.

Tory Leader Knows We've Got Mud as Well as Oil

George Drew has become an officially bumptious Macmillanian—he's had the mud treatment.

The Progressive Conservative leader, known as one of the best-dressed men in the country, dressed in a well-tailored suit in a Edinburgh grocery store on the day of Edmonton district farms and the Leduc oilfield.

He ended up spattered but happy. Members of his party tried to dust him off from a foot-long sideways to look at the water of the Atlantic rogue well, until Mr. Drew insisted on getting away.

Among farmers visited was Anita Turia, one of the first Ukrainian women to own land on whose farm the discovery well was located.

On Sunday, Mr. Drew flew over the Edmonton area with airport manager James Bell and the Leduc oilfield manager, Tom Jackson.

Mr. Jackson, 35, was in the area to inspect the oilfield overseas during the First World War.
